SENATOR VEST'S TRIBUTE TO A DOG

(This tribute to a dog was made during the trial of a man who had shot a neighbor's foxhound. Senator Vest asked $200 damages, but after two minutes' deliberation the jury awarded $500. Reprinted in observance of National Dog Week, September 19 - 27.)

"Gentlemen of the Jury: The best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog.

"Gentlemen of the Jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger; to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alertness, faithful and true even to death."

CENSUS STARTS NOV. 8 ON VA. AGRICULTURE

November 8 is C-day in Virginia for the farmers and census takers: —marking the start of the 1954 Census of Agriculture in the state.

George Herring, assistant director of the VPI Agricultural Extension Service, says on that day, census takers will begin interviewing Virginia farmers.

Census plans call for delivery of questionnaires in rural and star route mail boxes the week before enumeration begins. Farmers in Virginia can expect to receive their questionnaires during the week of November 1, to give them time to fill out the forms before the census taker arrives.

The Census Bureau is urging farmers to complete their own questionnaires. This will save time both it will reduce the cost of the census, and it will speed the day when census totals become available to the public.

Herring points out that census data is widely used in marketing and consumer information programs and will be especially helpful in Virginia's new intensified farm and home development program. He says it is important for accurate figures to be given, and stresses that all information given is treated as confidential.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

The Veterans Administration direct loan program, to aid veterans in the purchase or construction of homes or farmhouses in areas where private financing is not available, has been extended and increased under a law signed by the President in the latter part of August.

Veterans already on the waiting lists for direct GI loans in the areas which are eligible will have first call on the fund savailable in their respective areas, VA said.

VA's direct loan authority ended under previous law on June 30, 1954. A joint resolution of the Congress extended that authority until July 31, 1954, and the new law extends the program further until June 30, 1955.

The new law authorizes the treasury to advance VA up to $150,000,000 in quarterly allotments of $37,500,000 during the first fiscal year. This is $50,000,000 more than was authorized for the direct loan program during each of the two previous years.

The newly authorized funds will be distributed to eligible direct loan areas in quarterly allotments.

There were 39,000 veterans on the waiting list on June 30, 1954 in the eligible areas to receive direct loans.

These loans may be made only in designated areas where mortgage funds are not available from other sources. A list of eligible areas and other information regarding GI loans may be obtained from the VA office nearest their homes.

A total of $411,091,700 has been made available to the direct loan revolving fund since the inception of the program in April, 1950. This has been made possible through Treasury advances, sales of mortgages and repayments of principle.

Direct loans being made currently bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent.

During the four years the direct loan program has been in operation, VA has made loans to 49,311 veterans and reserved funds for another 7,836, for a total of more than $403,500,000.

Through June 30, 1954, only 90 direct loans have resulted in foreclosure or voluntary conveyance to the Government in lieu of foreclosure. This is approximately one-fifth of one per cent of the loans closed.

Although VA direct loans are limited to $10,000, the average loan amount is $7,098.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Slugger Wins the "Home" Game

Slugger White, the home town's star hitter, dropped by the other day to talk baseball, and to "tell one" on himself.

Seems Slugger had been babysitting. "I was doing just fine," he said, "until it was time for a 'change.' I called Mom for advice. Still didn't get it right. Then Dad set me straight."

"'Place the diaper like a baseball diamond with you at bat,' he said. 'Fold second base over home plate, and pin first and third base on home plate.' That did it—with no errors!"

From where I sit, Slugger's Dad had the idea. Often, like his Mom, a lot of us tend to give advice in our terms without considering the other fellow's way of doing things. Even in choosing your favorite beverage, it's best to think of your neighbor. If you like tea, and I prefer a temperate glass of beer, we should both "play the game" and try to understand each other's point of view.
